MERITORIOUS REWARD.

PROBABLY no medicinal preparation in existence is more widely known or more generally appreciated by the public, than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and yet it was originally offered to the world not by advertising, but on its merits alone.

The number of years of uninterrupted progress in the good opinion and confidence of mankind is an evidence of the merit of a remedial agent, which may fairly be considered positive and conclusive.

During the long period the Bitters have been before the people as a vegetable tonic and alterative, adapted to the preservation and restoration of health, every year has added to their celebrity, and largely extended the sphere of their usefulness.

It was a success from the beginning, because all who tried it found that every property ascribed to it was verified by its operation. Every one who used it approved and recommended it. Hence, its sales soon became remunerative, and the profits, as they increased from month to month and from year to year, were employed in spreading broadcast among the general public, facts and statements which all, who had tested the article in their own individual cases, knew to be entirely true.

TESTS OF GENUINENESS.

Blown in the bottle is the name of the preparation (Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters). On one side of the bottle is a fine steel plate label, on which St. George and the Dragon figure as a vignette, and at its foot is a miniature note of hand, with engraved fac-simile of the signature of the President of our Company. The directions for use, in bronze letters on a dark ground, are on the opposite side. A metallic cap, stamped with a medallion head and the name of the article, envelops the cork. The Bitters are put up ONLY IN GLASS, and sold by the bottle or case. The monogram of the Company, thus (THE CO.) is burnt on the top of the cork of each bottle, which is a protection against tampering with or refilling the bottle.

Legal proceedings, criminal or otherwise, as the facts may warrant, will be instituted against counterfeiters of this great medicinal staple, the external appearance of which, though familiar to its many patrons throughout the United States and abroad, it has been thought advisable to describe, as a protection to those who may wish to be convinced of its merits.

A BOOK OF INFORMATION.

MANY almanacs have appeared in the time covered by the history of Hostetter's United States Almanac. Its regularity of appearance in all these years, and the straightforwardness of its character have made for it many warm friends over this broad land.

The value of a reference book of any kind is based on its accuracy of statement of fact, and the recital of events in truthfulness. In the preparation of this book we have endeavored to present to our friends a compendium of facts based on highest authority. Historians differ because their viewpoints are not identical, and we have tried to avoid conflict.

Our Almanac is kept within easy reach in thousands of homes throughout the land, and we know of some who have kept them for many years back. We appreciate this confidence in our efforts. We are as zealous that this Almanac should be a household treasure, as has Hostetter's Stomach Bitters become a household necessity. Every drop of the Bitters must be the best—must maintain the standard of more than fifty years. Our efforts are for the health of the nation.

We want more people to know of the beneficent effects of this remedy in renewing the vitality and building up the body, which in today's work-a-day world is so rapidly devitalized and wasted by the many urgent demands made upon it in every walk and mart of life. Hence we want this Almanac to be so accurate in all its statements that you will feel confidence in reiterating any assertion made herein, and to turn to it for information with the conviction that it is reliable. We have spared no efforts to make it so.

The many people who are using our Bitters, which every year grows into more popular favor, are not wanting in praise for the remedy that has put them on the road to renewed health (in some cases they say it has saved their lives). We publish a limited number of testimonials. We could fill volumes with them. To maintain the real purpose of the book space will not permit of greater number.

The advice contained in the articles under various headings about diseases (which are our masters, unless given timely attention) comes from actual experience. This excellent remedy will give great relief to any who will try it fairly, carefully and persistently. If your ailment is one of long standing naturally the improvement will be more gradual; it will take longer to get the system back to normal condition. Some, however, will need only a few doses. You would better get a bottle at once, and start on the road to recovery.

MEAN TIME. (As used in this Almanac.)

The interval between the Sun's transit over the same meridian being unequal in length, it is impossible to regulate clocks by it. To avoid this irregularity, a fictitious Sun, called the MEAN SUN, is supposed to move in the equator with a uniform velocity, at times in advance or behind the True Sun, the greatest deviation being about 16 minutes. The difference between Apparent and Mean Time is called the Equation of Time. To obtain True or Apparent Time add to or subtract from the Mean Time the figures in column Sun Fast or Slow. Clocks and chronometers used by navigators are regulated to Mean Solar Time.

THE CALCULATIONS OF THIS ALMANAC ARE GIVEN IN MEAN SOLAR TIME

ECLIPSES FOR THE YEAR 1910

In the year 1910 there will be FOUR Eclipses, two of the SUN and two of the MOON.

I.—A Total Eclipse of the Sun, May 9. Invisible to the United States. Visible to Australia and adjacent oceans.

II.—A Total Eclipse of the Moon, May 23-24. Visible to North and South America, the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and in part to south-western Europe, the western portions of Africa, and the extreme eastern part of Australia. Occurring as follows:

Some things that may be had for the asking are dear at the price.—Lippincott's.

THE SAFEGUARD OF HEALTH.

HUMAN life is divided by physicians into five distinct periods—the first extending from birth to the age of seven years; the second from the seventh to the fourteenth year; the third from the fourteenth to the twenty-first year; the fourth from the twenty-first to the fortieth year; the fifth from the fortieth year to the close of life.

Shakespeare divides life into "seven ages," but five is the number adopted by the faculty.

In what is called the "third period" the important changes occur which mark and separate the sexes. This is the stage of development, when the frame in acquiring form, proportion and strength, makes extraordinary demands upon the vital and constitutional resources,—the vitality of woman, being taxed to a greater degree than that of man.

The fourth period, embracing the maturity of life, when the powers of body and mind in both sexes ought to be in full vigor, also has its special difficulties. It is during this stage that woman is subject to most of the harassing ailments peculiar to her organization. So numerous and distressing are these complaints that the patience with which they are borne, while it excites the wonder, demands the earnest sympathy of the less afflicted,—beings who style themselves par excellence, the "lords of creation." In fortitude, it must be admitted, the "lords" are by no means equal to the "ladies". During these distressing periods the vitality often requires to be reinforced by artificial means. Whenever this is necessary, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be most conscientiously recommended as the most harmless and effective of tonics.

The fifth stage is that in which all the functions decay and the frame gradually bends under the weight of years. During this period, too, women suffer much more than the stronger sex. In passing the line which divides maturity from the decline of life, they have to encounter more difficulties and dangers than Cæsar dreamed of when he crossed the Rubicon. Depression and gloom, bordering on insanity, together with innumerable physical disturbances, are among the pains and penalties they sometimes have to endure at the second as well as at the first crisis of their lives. As a soothing and balsamic remedy for their afflictions at such times, these Bitters are recommended by many eminent physicians.

The stimulating qualities of the preparation are so modified by the medicinal herbs and roots infused into it, that it may be taken without apprehension even by those who are unpleasantly affected by ordinary excitants.

The constitutionally nervous may readily keep their infirmity in constant check by the daily use of this healthful Vegetable Tonic, and those who have "shattered their nerves," as the phrase is, either by undue physical or intellectual labor, will find in this vitalizing elixir a prompt restorative. No person of nervous temperament, who has not experienced its effects, can imagine the delightful influence it exercises over individuals so constituted.

Would you not make a little effort to get back some of the vitality that used to make you feel the sweetness of life? Why not keep vigorous through the rest of life, even "while the sands are running low"? Care for your health now, while you have health to care for. It slips away easily; comes back slowly.

A SMALL boy was fishing Sunday and accidentally tumbled into the creek. As an old man helped him out he said: "How'd you come to fall in the river, my little man?"

"I didn't come to fall in the river. I came to fish."—Ladies' Home Journal.

From E. G. WICKWIRE, Larned, Kas., February 13, 1907:

I have a customer who has asthma, and lately has been using Hostetter's Bitters. He says he has received great benefit in this complaint from using the Bitters, as now made.

RHEUMATIC PAINS.

DID you have a twinge of pain in the shoulder when you got up one morning? Do you have them frequently? Do they sometimes catch you in the knees or ankles, after you have been standing for awhile? Did you stop to think what caused them? If you did, you tried to recall where and how you hurt that spot the day before; now, isn't that so? None of us would like to think that these pains speak loudly of the dangers that lie ahead. When you see a red flag hanging out along the roadway you are warned of some danger at that place, and you avoid it. When you feel a pain you look back to discover how it came, when you should look forward to where it is possibly going to lead. This is one of the many mistakes made by mankind in considering the ills that come upon us, as it were, "in the darkness" of the night.

Now the approach of rheumatism is so subtle that one does not stop to consider its warnings until he has pain after pain in different parts. Then he begins to realize, or maybe his doctor has advised him, that this dread disease has fastened its fangs in his bones. It is going to take a strong effort now to get rid of it; but you can, if you want to. It is said that doctors can't cure rheumatism; and when we see so many cripples hobbling about suffering with it, really it seems to be true. The record of cases telling of those who receive great relief and comfort from intelligent use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters gives you hope of relief and freedom in your own case. Don't suffer longer than to give this remedy a fair trial; be persistent in your efforts to get well.

If you are just beginning to feel these slight twinges of pain do not put them off as being only light matters, but get the acid that creates them out of the system at once. These Bitters, taken in accord with directions, will remove the cause, and you will avoid the terrible pains which accompany this affliction in nearly all of its stages. Do not let it gain further growth in your system.

THE SUCCESSFUL MAN.

Thinks first, speaks last, and to the point.
Pays promptly and collects as he pays.
Practices strict business economy, but not meanness.

Is courteous in manner and appreciates the commercial value of cordiality.

Is honest, not only from policy, but from principle. He considers success lacking self-approbation a failure in disguise.

Is careful in details, knowing that they are the mortar which binds his operations.

Possesses executive ability to a degree which renders him appreciative of the valuable points in employees.

THOUGH I am poor, send me to carry some gift to those who are poorer, some cheer to those who are lonelier . . . and light from my Christmas candle at the gladness of an innocent and grateful heart.

From THOMAS H. HALLCRAN, Newport, Ky.,
April 21, 1906:

Dear Sirs—I thought I would write a few lines about your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. I have taken it myself and sold lots of it, and I will recommend it every time for stomach trouble.

A BRIGHT BOY.—Mr. Higgins had put in about an hour the previous evening explaining in words of one syllable to his little son the geological theory of the formation of coal veins—how they are the result of the decomposition of vast forests that existed in riotous profusion in the prehistoric era. This evening they had company, and Mr. Higgins turned to Willie and asked, "Willie, how did we get coal?"

"Got Mr. Coke to trust us for it," Willie replied.

PIN your hope on your own crop.

From THE DR. CASTLE Co., Inc., Auburn, N. Y., June 5, 1906:

Dear Sirs—We have sold proprietary medicines for 25 years, and we say without hesitation that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has certainly given the best of satisfaction to our customers, and in many instances has done what all other medicines failed to do.

Cranberries correct the liver.
Asparagus stimulates the kidneys.
Celery is a nerve tonic; so also are onions.
Honey is a good substitute for cod liver oil.
Watercress is an excellent blood purifier.
Parsnips possess the same virtues as sarsaparilla.

Bananas are beneficial to sufferers from chest complaints.

Beetroot is fattening and good for people who want to put on flesh.

Tomatoes are good for a torpid liver, but should be avoided by gouty people.

Lettuce has a soothing effect on the nerves and is excellent for sufferers from insomnia.

MRS. KNICKER—That little Jones boy has such beautiful table manners.

Mrs. Bocker—Yes, his mother always feeds him at home before he is invited out.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

From RICHMOND's, Bear Lake, Mich., Mar. 21, 1907:

The never failing remedy for stomach trouble and general debility in the Griswold family is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

CHILLS AND FEVER.

SO COMMON is this disease, especially in the lowlands or marshy districts, that very few people escape it. Most generally it is caused by malaria or poisonous effluvium developed by the decomposition and destruction of vegetable matter, and this poison is either exhaled from the soil of the locality where the sickness prevails, or blown thither from a distance by aerial currents. Fevers which are known to be produced by special local causes are called endemics; while those which cannot thus be accounted for, and which are supposed to be conveyed from afar, are usually spoken of as epidemics.

The periodical fevers are divided into two classes, intermittent and remittent; and the difference between them is this: Intermittent fevers are characterized by intervals of absolute cessation of the distressing symptoms of the complaint. While in remittent fever the violence of the disorder abates at intervals, but the painful symptoms do not entirely subside.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

She who loves and runs away may be sorry later on.

Did you ever notice what a mean disposition most reformers have?

When you bury an old animosity never mind about the gravestone.

If a man who owns an automobile is a bachelor it's his own fault.

We don't believe people would be more lawless if there were less law.

Of course this world may be growing better, but a lot of new jails are erected every year.

About her complexion the average woman worries more than she does about her prospective harp and crown.

The disease is of such a nature as to be not dangerous to life, and its worst effect is the impairment of the constitution. It is not infectious or contagious, nor is it confined to any particular season of the year, but is more common in the spring and autumn. To prepare the system to repel an attack of chills and fever is best done by the habitual use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters according to directions. It has been the companion of thousands on their travels, and has rendered them immune from these dreaded fevers. It has brought back into normal condition many who were suffering.

The effect of the Bitters in breaking up the intermittents is really phenomenal. A few doses given during the first cold fit and subsequent sweating stage often prevent a repetition. No tonic ever administered in chills and fever has given so much real benefit, or been so uniformly successful. It is regarded in the fever and ague districts as an infallible remedy.

From Miss F. L. RYAN, Brooklyn, N. Y.,
January 6, 1907:

Would you be kind enough to send me one of your illustrated almanacs for 1907. I have been taking your Stomach Bitters for years, and it has been the means of preserving my life.

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

THE organism of the human body is so complete, and yet so complex, that the hurt of one part, though small in itself, affects the whole. If you hurt your finger the whole body is in pain in sympathy with the injured member. The operation of the bowels is no small part of the work of the whole system of human mechanism, and anything that affects their regular movements sends a quiver of pain over the various nerve lines to the limits of the farthest member. If there is a retarding of their work, called constipation, the congestion causes much discomfort and depression throughout the body. If there is a lack of proper retention, called diarrhoea, there is a weakness in all parts and general lassitude prevails.

To keep the body in the best condition for the performance of all the demands made on every part you must keep the bowels in regular movement without pain. If you will make use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in accord with the directions the actions of the bowels will become regular, and without pain or distress. If you refuse to obey the calls of Nature no medicine on earth will help you. A persistent neglect will bring on a condition either of chronic diarrhoea, without ability to control the movements; or constipation will result from a forcing of movement, which produces piles, a most distressing condition, followed by hemorrhoids, operation for their removal, and—possibly death. Your very life depends on proper treatment. Get Hostetter's.

Blessed is the man whose alimentary system is in such perfect operation that he does not know he has a stomach. Keep your condition so by careful use of this excellent regulator.

GOVERNMENT WHITEWASH.

Take one-half bushel of unslaked lime, slake with boiling water, covering during process. Strain the liquor through a sieve and add to it a peck of clean salt previously dissolved in warm water. Add three pounds of ground rice, pounded to a paste, dissolved and boiled; half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clean glue which has been previously dissolved by melting it slowly in an old kettle set in another filled with water. Mix all and add five gallons of hot water. It should be applied hot. A pint of this mixture will cover a square yard, and nothing can compare with it.

From DR. H. H. DAVIS, Louisville, Miss.,
June 11, 1907:

I frequently prescribe Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in convalescence, and the demand is increasing for same.

NOTHING is more infectious than fear and courage; but the parent's fear is doubled in the child, for where the giant trembles the dwarf must surely fall.—Jean Paul Richter.

From DR. W. P. DABNEY, Combs, Ark.,
February 13, 1908:

In my thirty years practice here in Madison County, Arkansas, I have prescribed over 500 bottles of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters without a single complaint against them as a general reconstructive tonic. I never sell them as a beverage.

LET us be kind to each other!

The night's coming on,
When friend and when brother
Perchance may be gone!
Then, midst our dejection,
How sweet to have earned
The blest recollection
Of kindness returned.

"WHY, Bridget," remarked her mistress, who wished to rally her for the amusement of her company, upon the fantastic ornamenting of a huge pie—"did you do this? You are quite an artist. How did you do it?" "Indade it was meself that did it," replied Bridget. "Isn't it pretty, mum? I did it with your false teeth, mum."

It is generally unwise to call a man a fool. Even if he agrees with you, he may think he is not such a fool as to need the information. —Lippincott's.

I find nothing that does me so much good as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It never fails.

TO BE ACCURATE.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER—Why! Johnnie, I am surprised. Don't you know it is a sin to stay away from Sunday School and catch fish on Sunday?

JOHNNIE (Who has been fishing with more patience than success)—Aw, gwan! Who's catching any fish?

SUNDAY'S CHILD.

The rhyme concerning the fortune which will attend children born on certain days of the week is:

"Monday's child is born to health;
Tuesday's child is born to wealth;
Wednesday's child is fair of face;
Thursday's child is full of grace;
Friday's child is loving and giving;
Saturday's child must work for a living;
But the child that is born on the Sabbath day

Is lucky and bonny, and wise and gay."

THE EARLIEST MAP OF AMERICA.—The earliest map showing the word "America" was exhibited in Washington recently. It was made in 1507, and was discovered not long ago among the archives of one of the ducal castles of Prussia. It is a wall map nine feet square.

HE—Well, my dear, I had my life insured today.

SHE—That's just like you—always thinking of yourself.—Pathfinder.

From SCHAUNHAMMER ROENSCH, Belleville, January 17, 1907:

We have handled the Hostetter Bitters for the last twenty-five years continuously, and have found no bitters that has stood the test as the Hostetter.

NOT SURE OF THE WHEREABOUTS.—A lady was looking for her husband and inquired anxiously of a housemaid, "Do you happen to know anything of your master's whereabouts?"

"I'm not sure, ma'am," replied the careful domestic, "but I think they are in the wash."

HOG CHOLERA.—To overcome constipation in hogs, and thus prevent many outbreaks of hog cholera: For every 100 pounds of live weight of hog give twice a day in slop, until laxative condition of bowels follows, one heaping tablespoonful of old process (pressed) oil meal.

WHEN a man fights in his mind he is always sure to come off victorious.

CHANGE OF SCENE.

SOME one has said that "a change of scene is better than drugs"; and the truth of this goes without the saying, almost. New environments, change of air, food, and the other accompaniments often work wonders for the invalid. Most people, however, do not feel ill enough to go away—many cannot afford the expense. It is not always that a change of location is needed to give the "change of scene"; it may be obtained, perhaps, just around your own home. It is wonderful how the varying conditions of the stomach will change the color of the glasses through which our vision comes; and the color of our visual glasses makes us act the part. If the stomach is in good condition we want to take everyone by the hand and wish them a glad "Good morning"; if it is sadly out of order we are "cross as a bear", and there are varying stages between these two extremes.

Now, maybe the vision has been narrowed by physical ailments arising from a disorderly condition of the stomach. Things about us have no attraction. No beauties of nature appeal to us. This is a sad condition. We are in danger of decline, no matter what the age, if we allow this condition to continue. The stomach needs toning up, put into active operation. When the stomach begins to perform its work properly the "change of scene" will come. The eyes will become brighter, and look out and around on things of which no notice before had been taken; we look out upon a new and different world, as it were.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will give you this "change of scene"; it will also be a good thing to take along if you are one of the fortunates who can go away, to help you enjoy recuperation of health more fully. (This splendid remedy ought to have a place in every traveler's suit case, by the way.) Go away, if you can; but if you put a bottle or two of this good medicine in your grip, and use it, you'll find health and energy returning more rapidly.

ASSERTING HER RIGHTS.—Mr. Duck—Where are you going in such a hurry, Mrs. Hen?

Mrs. Hen—Why, over to the garden, sir. I understand that the farmer has set out some kind of newfangled eggplants, and I am going to scratch every one of them out. If there are any eggs to be laid around here I guess we hens will do it.

APPLES stimulate the appetite of a horse or cow wonderfully, if given occasionally. Sweet apples stimulate the flow of milk, but sour fruit will retard the supply. On the whole, however, apples are not useful as a food, and their fattening qualities are slight. Corn gives many times more beef, and of much better flavor. Apples are good as a change food, or as a stomach stimulant.

IF YOU court a young woman, and you are won, and she is won, what will you become? One, of course.

From J. W. BURNEY, M. D., Des Arcs, Ark.,
April 14, 1906:

Dear Sirs—Your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is all that is necessary. I prescribe it.

The night has a thousand eyes,
And the day but one;
Yet the light of the bright world dies
With the dying sun.

The mind has a thousand eyes,
And the heart but one;
Yet the light of a whole life dies
When love is done.

THE habit of viewing things cheerfully, and of thinking about life hopefully, may be made to grow up in us like any other habit.

"WHY do you paint?" said a violinist to his daughter. "For the same reason you use rosin: to help me in drawing my beau."

NOT AFRAID OF WORK.

HAROLD—Percy, do you remember what that preacher-man said, that in the hereafter "our works do follow us"?

PERCY—That don't need to worry us; we never done no work.

A Story (Partly) Without Words.

A New York druggist who had been a printer received an order written by a physician, a stranger. He examined it for some time without being able to make head or tail of it, and then exclaimed: "My , that is without a ¶ during this ., a regular 18-^a fellow!" After which 'he made a — for his †, remarking by way of (that if that †er ever came through this ‡ of country he would meet him in a 22 to 22 combat with the intention of piercing his : so that he would ever afterward have to wear a ~.

DANGER IN MACHINE OIL.—Take care how you let any machine oil or lubricator come in contact with a cut or scratch on your hand or arm, or serious blood poisoning may result. In the manufacture of some of these machine oils fat from diseased and decomposed animals is used. All physicians know how poisonous such matter is. The only safeguard is to not let any spot where the skin is broken be touched by any machine oil or lubricator.

From JOHN L. KEATING, New York, N. Y., August 3, 1905:

Dear Sirs—When sickness invades the home, or adversity casts you down, send for a bottle of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—a medicine of good repute and large sale. 'Tis a friend in need.

A good man is seldom uneasy, an ill one never easy.

ENTIRELY SUPERFLUOUS.—"A word to the wise is sufficient," remarked the man with the quotation habit.

"Wrong again," rejoined the contrary person. "A word to the wise is unnecessary."—Chicago News.

A STORMY LIFE.—"Were yez ever shtruck be lightnin', Pat?"

"Oi don't remimber."

"Don't remimber?"

"No. A mon that's been married tin years don't remimber sich troifies as that."

Who pleasure gives shall joy receive.

DEEDS, of course, are mightier than words; yet some people manage to talk their way through life, and get along pretty well at that.—Lippincott's.

REMEMBER: That the best friend you have in the world is a better friend to himself than he is to you; also, that "a man to have friends must show himself friendly."

BILIOUSNESS.

EVERY person predisposed to an overflow of bile is subject to periodical attacks of biliousness, accompanied by pain in the right side, languor, gloomy feeling, pain between the shoulders, and peculiar tinge of complexion which indicates that a portion of the bile which should have passed off through the bowels has been misdirected to the venous system, and is present in the superficial blood vessels.

To avert these symptoms, and the general disorder of the internal organs which they involve, it is advisable for individuals of a bilious habit to take regularly every day at least two doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and especially at such times as they have reason to apprehend an attack. It acts specifically on the liver while it regulates the bowels and purifies the venous blood. It tones up the entire alimentary canal for healthy action.

as a remedy for biliousness know its value; they know that under its operation, the saffron tinge which accompanies the ailment, gradually disappears; that the dull pain in the side and between the shoulders is relieved; that the action of the bowels becomes regular and natural; that headache and nausea subside; that the bitter eructations cease; that the depressed spirits recover their elasticity; that the natural appetite is renewed—in a word, that the whole system is regulated, toned and restored.

The stomach and the liver are so intimately connected, that it is impossible one should be disordered without the other being sympathetically affected, and therefore it is requisite that a medicine designed to relieve either should act favorably upon both. This is one of the especial merits of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, combining as they do the properties of a perfect stomachic with those of a powerful antibilious remedy.

From Dr. J. M. OWENS, Cross Hill, S. C.,
April 2, 1907:

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best tonic on earth.

SPRAINS should be treated as quickly as possible with hot water, after which the part affected should be rubbed with liniment.

BOON FOR OLD AGE AND INFIRMITY.

NOTHING can be more mortifying or depressing to a man or woman of ambitious mind, than a lack of necessary physical strength to carry out the objects in view. A genuine tonic, capable of imparting unwonted elasticity and vigor to organs in which these qualities are wanting is needed to give back the strength and energy so much desired for the duties that must be performed. The natural decline of advancing age is rapid enough; to add burdens of disease and disability, the weakness of impoverished vital forces, and the pain from clogged channels of circulation, make the years of life seem "few and full of trouble". Get the physical being in condition to ward off decrepitude, and keep hale and hearty. The fact that this desirable change is brought about by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rests upon the most incontrovertible evidence.

Convalescents, slowly recovering from acute attacks of disease, the naturally frail and delicate; persons who have overtaxed their strength by excessive labor; the young and thoughtless, who are suffering from the reaction consequent on a wild pursuit of pleasure; the infirm, upon whom time has laid a heavy hand, and, indeed, all who suffer from a deficiency of vital power and physical capability, will find the Bitters a helping, strengthening and solacing elixir, thoroughly adapted to their needs.

The Bitters, besides overcoming debility, improves the appetite, promotes sound sleep and insures the regular discharge of every bodily function. It is a most reliable preventive of malarial fevers, and remedies kidney and bladder troubles, gout, rheumatism and many other ailments. Persons who have been prostrated by disease, and are in a state of convalescence, will find the Bitters a valuable auxiliary in gaining health and strength. In toning up the system they are effective.

POULTRY MEAT THE BEST.

The farmer who will sell his nice plump hens at ten cents a pound and buy beef at fifteen cents, is not always wise, for the quality of the flesh of poultry is superior to that of beef. The following shows the average composition of good poultry meat:

Water	74
Nitrogenous matter.....	21
Fatty matter.....	3.8
Salt.....	1.2

Total..... 100

The above shows that every 100 pounds of poultry flesh contains seventy-four pounds of water, twenty-one pounds of nitrogenous matter (lean meat) and smaller proportions of fat and salt. If a hen is very fat, however, there will be a larger proportion of fatty matter, but the above is sufficient to demonstrate that for tender, juicy, lean meat, there is nothing sold in our markets that can compare with poultry.

From DR. W. L. COOK, Columbus, Neb.,
January 27, 1907:

We have used your Bitters in our family for years. We find it an excellent tonic.

WHEN a cut will not heal, saturate a piece of absorbent cotton with coal oil and bind on.

LET US SMILE.

The thing that goes the farthest towards making life worth while,
That costs the least and does the most, is just a pleasant smile.
The smile that bubbles from a heart that loves its fellow-men
Will drive away the cloud of gloom and coax the sun again;
It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness blent—
It's worth a million dollars, and doesn't cost a cent.

YOUNG Minister (searching for mirror)—
Have you a glass here?

Beadle—Na, na, sir. We dinna need a glass; we jist tak' a sook oot o' th' bottle.—

MRS. JONES—Mary, where is Johnnie?
Mary—Out in the yard, mum.

Mrs. Jones—Go out and see what he is doing, and tell him to stop it.

MIGHT SLAP HIM TOO.

MAMA—Come, Willie, give your new governess a kiss.

WILLIE (Who sees everything that goes on)—I don't want to. I'm afraid.

MAMA—Afraid! Of what are you afraid, child?

WILLIE—Why, she slapped papa when he kissed her.

RULES FOR HEALTH.

Avoid drinking stuff from bottles before you have looked at the labels.

Refrain from working in coal mines where there are likely to be accumulations of fire-damp.

When the elevator is crowded wait for the next car.

Skate only where you know the ice to be thick.

Wait for the car to stop, even if in so doing you waste three-quarters of a second of your valuable time.

If the man who calls you a liar is big and brawny, treat him with silent contempt.

When you see a crowd of people running madly in any direction turn and go the other way.

Shun jails. They are likely to be very unsanitary.

Don't be afraid of wearing out the bath tub.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

From JAS. C. JONES, M. D., Phar. D., Washington, D. C., January 13, 1908:

I am recommending Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to my patients in private practice.

WIN GOLD.

A vain man's motto is, "Win gold and wear it"; a generous man's, "Win gold and share it"; a miser's, "Win gold and save it"; a profligate's, "Win gold and spend it"; a broker's, "Win gold and lend it"; a fool's, "Win gold and end it"; a gambler's, "Win gold and lose it"; a wise man's, "Win gold and use it."

MAN'S weakness, waiting upon God,

Its end can never miss,

For men on earth no work can do

More angel-like than this.

He always wins who sides with God;

To him no chance is lost;

God's will is sweetest to him when

It triumphs at his cost.

TRAINING HIM.—Ascum—I saw you punishing your boy today. What was it about?

Popley—I caught him in a lie.

Ascum—Oh, well, you can't expect a boy to tell the truth all the time.

Popley—No, but when he doesn't tell the truth I want him to be bright enough not to be caught at it.—Catholic Standard.

SOME people grumble every time they compare themselves with other people, and so do the other people.—Lippincott's.

THE man whose mind is not made up should no more air his opinions than his bed in public.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

NO ONE of the vital organs in the human body holds so important office as the stomach. It is the pendulum to the whole system. Its action transfuses food into blood, which contains the materials out of which bone, muscle and membrane are formed and waste parts repaired. This necessitates a continuous process.

Of all the vital organs, no one is so abused as the stomach. Sometimes it takes years of ill-treatment before indigestion and dyspepsia are so manifested that inconvenience or pain is noticeable, in the sensation of heat, the burning or gnawing pain, which arise from irritation of the stomach; the spasmodic and neuralgic torture and the distension from flatulency, which accompany indigestion; the sinking feeling at the pit of the stomach when that organ is empty, and the feeling of tightness and oppression experienced when it is full; the heaviness of the head, ringing in the ears, dull pain between the shoulders, and perverted vision, which frequently result from a disordered stomach, are only a few of the many evils of which dyspepsia is parent.

How is the unfortunate victim of this complication of ills to be relieved from them? Clearly the only way to remedy this evil is to invigorate the stomach—to arouse it from its lethargy, vitalize it and render it capable of performing its whole duty, and to this necessity Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is especially well adapted. Its tonic and restorative operation commences with the first dose. Relief from all the most distressing symptoms of dyspepsia are obtained within a week after a course of this Vegetable Tonic has been commenced, and the improvement continues until the trouble is entirely eradicated.

As a preventive of indigestion, where there is a tendency that way, two tablespoonfuls of the Bitters should be taken before each meal. By following this rule, flatulency and a sense of overfullness, which are so frequently complained of by hearty eaters, may be avoided. All the required elements of help are contained in the Bitters.

A GENTLE word is never lost;

Thy fallen brother needs it.

How easy said, how small the cost,

How peace and comfort speeds it!

Then drive the shadow from thy cheek,

A smile can well replace it;

Your voice is music when you speak,

With gentle words to grace it.

"A PRUDENT MAN," says a witty Frenchman, "is like a pin. His head prevents him from going too far."

Do not only take occasions of doing good when they are thrust upon thee, but study to do all the good thou canst. Zeal of good works will make thee plot and contrive for them, consult and ask advice for them.

NEVER want anything you can't get, and you will always get all you want.

From PUBLIC DRUG COMPANY, Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 28, 1906:

Dear Sirs—The sale of your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been increasing rapidly, and praised very highly by our customers.

DANGEROUS NEGLECT.

EVERY man owes it to himself, to his family, to his state and nation to keep his health just as good as it is possible. No man can be at his best if he has aches and pains that rack the body and depress the mind. When pain has entered, if you reflect on the cause thereof, you will find that you have left the bars down at some critical moment. Perhaps you will not, you may not care to, go back far enough to discover the primary cause. Well, no matter, the pain is there. It may be only slightly troublesome now, and you think it not worth while noticing seriously. If you consult your physician he will say, "Better give it attention at once"; if you seek other authorities (such as the "family doctor book") the answer will come, after advising some prescription, "Do it now". Business is pressing for attention along some special line; social customs demand the little time that can be stolen(?) away from the office or the store, and other things keep the time fully occupied up to the limit. Even sleep is robbed of its portion of the allotment of man's time, and rises, after awhile, to demand its rights be respected. Then troubles begin to grow in size and frequency. Danger lurks at every turn; stares you in the face in the morning, at noon and night; meets you at the bedside; wakes you in the night, or perhaps gives but little rest in terrible dreams. Of course this is extreme, but it will come to any one who continues to travel "the pace that kills".

Are you going to allow this abnormal condition to remain? Can you afford to cut down the number of years of your natural life? Have you anyone dependent on you who would be without proper care if you were taken off suddenly? Would it not be better to take care of the health now? A little attention now may add many years to your life. Constantly you are needing rebuilding, and you will not permit that to come in Nature's own way, and aid must be given to renew the strength. You will need just such aid as the popular remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will give to keep you in good health to enjoy your family and your home. Take it now; take it regularly. You are one of many, perhaps, who hesitate, because many medicines are presented for trial. You don't need to try this remedy; its history for more than fifty years is its best recommendation. You can take it feeling sure of beneficial results.

COOKING MEASUREMENTS.—A rounding tablespoonful of such dry material as flour and sugar has a given weight. Of solid fats a rounding tablespoonful weighs an ounce; of flour, etc., half an ounce. The term cup is applied to a half-pint measure, which is made in tin and is divided by marks into quarters or thirds. A pint of butter weighs a pound. If two ounces are required, up to the first quarter mark in your measuring-cup will be correct. If two ounces of flour are wanted, up to the half-cup mark will be required, as it takes a quart of sifted flour to weigh a pound.

AN ostrich when terrified will travel twenty-five miles an hour.

From A. GATES, Toledo, O., June 21, 1906:

Dear Sirs—I find after selling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for 35 years it performs all, and gives all, to improve for better health it promises. It is a good medicine.

GIVE the devil his dues, but don't pay him in advance.

DO NOT look for wrong or evil,
You will find them if you do;
As you measure to your neighbor
He will measure back to you.
Look for goodness, look for gladness,
You will meet them all the while:
If you bring a smiling visage
To the glass—you meet a smile.

RELATION OF KIDNEYS TO THE SYSTEM.

MANY members there are in the physical being of man, and each member has its own particular function. The kidneys have a very important part in maintaining the health, their work being to secrete the urine and with the assistance of two tubes, to carry it to the bladder, whence it is ejected by urination. Much of the matter taken into the body as food passes through the kidneys; hence the importance of keeping them always in excellent working order. Under ordinary habits of living the kidneys seldom become diseased; but they can be forced and overworked in their operations, and if this is done harm will result. When you have that "lame back" feeling on arising in the morning, more weary and worn than when you retired the night before, be sure the primary cause is in the kidneys.

If you knew why these pains are there, and why you are seized with such lassitude, you would at once become concerned about the future. A slight back-ache is soon worked off, if you are energetic and ambitious; but it is only pushed aside, as it were, for a time. It will return, and each time it will be a little more severe, if you neglect it. The cause must be removed. You must wash out the kidneys; free them of the clog; cleanse them thoroughly. You cannot do this by "turning the hose" into them, nor by flushing them as with cathartics. You must treat them gently; give them a stimulating remedy that will restore their vitality, bring back the energy that should be theirs to perform their work in their own way. Put them into normal action, so they can throw off the matter lodged there. Give them the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to stimulate them to renewed activity, and they will soon show improvement. Follow the directions carefully; do not think "if a little is good more will be better". You can push them too hard with medicine, also, and their last state will be worse than before. Use moderation, but be regular in the use of this remedy.

A LADY was lamenting the ill-luck which attended her affairs, when a friend, wishing to console her, bade her "look upon the bright side." "Oh!" she sighed, "there seems to be no bright side." "Then polish up the dark one," was the reply. This was sound advice.

FROM L. P. BYRNE, Oak Harbor, Washington, April 10, 1906:

Dear Sirs—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a good medicine for all kinds of stomach trouble. I can gladly recommend it.

I borrow Joy from Sorrow—

A Rainbow from the Rain.

If Life were not in Shadow,

My Star would shine in vain.

Do good to thy friend to keep him, to thy enemy to gain him.

"PAPA," said the little daughter of a clergyman, recently, "If God tells you what to write in your sermon, why do you so often scratch it out again?" The clergyman changed the subject by asking her how she liked her new doll.

SCIENTISTS claim that smoking injures the eyesight. But this is not true. The boy with a stump in his mouth can see his father ten streets away.

HOOF-ROT IN SHEEP, THRUSH IN HORSES.—One teaspoonful of calomel in four ounces of crude oil (slake well). Drop in affected part of hoof, after cleansing same. Use it three or four times, and condition, unless very bad and chronic, will be well. In severe cases continue daily for a week.

THE way is never very long
If measured with a smile and song.

MENTAL DEPRESSION.

THE PACE at which we are going these days, in all lines of activity, causes a constant drain on the system. The father comes home from store, office or shop in a depressed mental condition; the wife meets him with a worn and weary look, all the result of the rapidity in our lives these "hurrying" times. You can see it in the faces you meet on your walks, in the cars—everywhere. Men have scarcely time to sit down to eat; they "bolt" their food, and are away again—to "business."

Did you ever have the "blues"? Did you ever think the matter back to the primary cause? Did you not find the tense strain on the mind had taken from the blood much of the life-giving power that should have gone to the stomach to dispose of the matter committed to its care? A few constitutions can stand this strain for a long time without apparent effect; a great many will "keep going" for a few years, and then suddenly "break-down" and be "all in". Most people soon become irritable, and then surly, when even friends find it hard to get along with them. This condition is abnormal. It is the duty of every good citizen—and others—to keep in prime companionable condition,—as nearly as possible.

The blood needs "washing out"; the stomach needs "toning up"; the whole system will require "renovating". A few doses, taken at regular intervals, of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will make you feel like a house during the "spring cleaning", perhaps; but, when you have taken it regularly for awhile you will feel like the house is when the good housewife gets through with this housecleaning job, which to most men is so "depressing".

WORMS IN HORSES, CATTLE, ETC.—Ashes or charcoal of burnt bark or wood of pine, spruce, oak, hickory, walnut, or white ash eradicate worms from horses, cattle, hogs or sheep. Mix the same with a soft or mash feed and give three times a day for three or four days, or increase the quantity a little and give twice a day. Doses—One small teaspoonful for sheep (at a time); one small teaspoonful for a hog six months old; one heaping teaspoonful for a hog one year and older; two heaping tablespoonfuls for a horse; four heaping tablespoonfuls for cattle.

A GENIUS is a man who can rise early without the aid of an alarm clock.

From DR. R. L. TAYS, Herkimer, Kansas, February 14, 1907:

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters still in the lead as a tonic, appetizer and strength giver.

"KEEP sweet"—advice of a wise woman.

A LITTLE TOO SOON.

Sam Jackson's wife was to be buried this afternoon and the bereaved colored man was shaking with grief over the coffin, when a comely young darkey maiden stepped over to his side and said, tenderly:

"Don't, Mistah Jackson; yo' mus' try an' bear up. Let me help yo' to fo'get!"

"O, Miss Johnson!" uttered the weeping man, between sobs, "it am berry kind in yo' t' offah such consolation, but ah mus' wait till aftah de fun'ral befo' ah engages in marriage talk!"

A NEWSPAPER publishes the following notice—"Married at Flimstone, by the Rev. Windstone, Mr. Nehemiah Sandstone and Miss Wilhelmi Whetstone, both of Limestone. Look out for brimstone."

To REMOVE dust from silk skirts, do not use a brush, but wipe them with a piece of velveteen, which will not wear the silk and will remove the dust better than a brush.

FAULTY ENGLISH.

PROSPECTIVE CUSTOMER—Have you anything that will cure fleas on my dog?

DRUGGIST—I don't know. What is the matter with the fleas?

From E. P. BERTRAND, Sleepy Eye, Minn.,
Feb. 24, 1906:

Gentlemen—I am now almost 68 years old, have used your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters off and on for some thirty-five years, and now, when my stomach and nerves are just a little shaky, seek relief in a bottle or two of the Bitters. If I was to cross the Atlantic again to-morrow or next day, as I have done before, I would take a bottle of Hostetter's Bitters with me, eat little or nothing the first few days, taking a little of the Bitters from time to time, and experience no seasickness.

WEIGHT of cattle can be told exactly only by the scales; but a reasonable approximation may be reached by the girth, measuring a short distance back of the forelegs. A girth of five feet indicates a weight of 650 to 750 pounds, according to form and fatness; adding 25 pounds for each additional inch, until six feet is reached, and 50 pounds for each additional inch over six feet.

A MAN always at his post is not a stick,

NEVER be sorry for any generous thing you ever did, even if it was betrayed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous if the person was mean afterwards. Never be sorry that you gave; it was right for you to give, even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean.

STARTED TOO HIGH.

At a party, a young lady began a song, "The autumn days have come; ten thousand leaves are falling." She began too high. "Ten thousand," she screeched, and then stopped. "Start her at five thousand!" cried an auctioneer present.

"WILL the boy who threw that pepper on the stove please come up here and get a present of a nice book," said a Sunday-school superintendent in Iowa; but the boy never moved. He was a far-seeing boy.

MANY spoil much good work for the lack of a little more.

TONING THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

WE SPEAK of "toning the human system", and thereby we mean the restoration of harmony in its varied operations, which are far more complicated and sympathetic than of any mechanical construction.

Complete nutrition, thorough digestion and quiet slumber are dependent upon the active operation of the digestive organs. In connection with these an uninterrupted secretion of bile, and a regular habit of body, must be maintained. Hence it is obvious to persons of intelligence that the stomach, (that strange alembic whose action, though veiled is, if interrupted, followed by consequences most disastrous to health,) must be regulated and strengthened.

Debilitated persons, as a class, suffer greatly from indigestion, and they will so inform you. More than this, there are few, if any, derangements of the bodily organs of which dyspepsia is not an accompaniment. Whether it be the origin or not of the multifarious complaints which have been attributed to it, one thing is sure, its injury to the system is well-nigh irreparable, if not arrested. Check the progress of this atrocious, obstinate disease at the outset. Its symptoms are more perplexing and numerous than those of any other to which the human race is subjected, and lead to more ignorant and injurious medication than all others put together.

Persons suffering from dyspepsia often dose themselves with unwisely chosen remedies for imaginary complaints, and do themselves real harm. A few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters would relieve the difficulty; and a continuation of this efficient remedy entirely remove it.

FOOLISH RULES FOR EMERGENCIES.

In going down a fire escape never precede a lady.

In case of fire leap from the nearest window and turn to the left.

In drowning do not speak. Talking to one's self is always bad form; but in this emergency it would also be extremely silly.

In falling from the back of a runaway horse always aim to let the left shoulder hit the ground first, as it is far better to break one's arm than to fracture one's skull.

If a heavy plate glass window falls upon you some cold winter morning don't scream, as you might, in opening your mouth, catch tonsillitis—to say nothing of several large pieces of glass.

If you happen to be in a theater when the cry of "Fire!" is raised, sit perfectly still. Of course no one ever does this, but it is just as well to bear the rule in mind. Authorities differ as to whether it is better to be trampled to death or be burned alive.—Randolph Forbes.

From C. R. BROWN, Des Arc, Ark., April 14, 1906:

Dear Sirs—I have used your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters with satisfactory results.

BLEEDING ANIMALS.—Applications of vinegar will stop all ordinary cases of bleeding, but if this fails a large vessel is severed.

VERMONT gets the credit of being the granite State, but Pennsylvania leads in the production of stone, with nearly fourteen per cent of the total to her credit.

"You can't imagine," said the musical young woman, "how distressing it is when a singer realizes she has lost her voice."

"Perhaps not," replied the plain man, "but I've got a fair idea how distressing it is when she doesn't realize it."—Standard.

The great Lick telescope will pick out a star so small it would require 30,000 of them put together to be visible to the naked eye.

FAILING APPETITE.

THAT "good appetite waits on digestion" is shown in the lives and habits of many of the human race today, as it was in the days when the bard uttered this apt proverb. When appetite fails we do not stop to study the cause, but we tempt it and we coax it with foods that after awhile add to the discomfort. To force the appetite is to create a false appetite, and this is to the hurt of the whole system. Appetite comes, or leaves, from conditions within. If you have been overfeeding the stomach, or putting therein unsuitable foods or drinks, digestion will be slow and imperfect; this will surely result in dyspepsia, a deplorable state in which a great many people find themselves. When you read of a suicide do you stop long enough for the conviction to take hold that he was a victim to the abuse of the stomach?

What is more depressing than that miserable feeling after eating a forced meal. The foods are not assimilated; an uneasy feeling in the stomach; a dullness in the head, followed by headache; lack of desire to give attention to work. And you will keep on doing this day after day, wondering all the time what is the matter. Think you will try something for it, and perhaps take the wrong thing; that is, you may make a wrong diagnosis of the real condition and its cause.

What you need is a pleasant stimulating tonic to restore the vital forces.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has proven its right to claim to be just what you need for that failing appetite. It acts gently on the stomach, and then out through the various channels to all parts of the system. It does not digest your food, but stimulates the organs to perform their proper functions, working out through their own courses the effete matters; removing the clog so the blood can get its best nourishment, and carry life and health to the extreme parts of the body. Eating then will become a joy and a pleasure, and you will often find appetite waiting on the cook—for digestion will have its work completed before time for the next meal. You'll feel new all over.

From MISS DENA ELING, Allendale, Mich.,
November 12, 1907:

Dear Sirs—I was troubled with indigestion. My folks and neighbors all said I couldn't live long. I became very sick and suffered with my stomach for years, until my brother got a bottle of your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After taking it I began to feel much better, and after continuing the Bitters I can now eat and work better than ever before. We always keep a bottle of the Bitters in the house, for it saved my life.

From J. C. DEHAVEN, Council Bluffs, Iowa,
July 12, 1907:

We never fail to recommend Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Have sold them for fifty years.

PEOPLE who borrow trouble usually put up their peace of mind as security.

URINARY DISEASES.

URINE is a fluid secreted from the blood, and is composed of excrementitious matter, which for the health of the body must be cast out. Urinary diseases, as a rule, are secondary, and mostly caused by disease of the blood. When the blood is healthy, or ordinarily so, urinary diseases will scarcely ever be found, unless arising from an injury to the bladder or its auxiliaries. It is the business of the kidneys to secrete from the blood in its passage through them, the waste and debris of the system, the effete matter thrown off by it—its ashes, so to speak. This is, or should be, then discharged through the bladder. Now if the kidneys become sluggish, this important function is inefficiently performed, the blood becomes contaminated with the refuse, and the poison thus retained in the life current breeds the most obstinate maladies against which medical skill is invoked, often without benefit.

Moreover, since the health of the kidneys themselves is absolutely dependent upon their activity, they become diseased when inactive, and unhappily the diseases to which they are subject are the most destructive kind. Among them are Bright's disease, fatty degeneration of the kidneys, albuminuria, diabetes and others less formidable, but no less obstinate. The use regularly of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters greatly aids in averting disease from the urinary organs by gently stimulating them when sluggish, and strengthening them when weak. It promotes the secretion and discharge of healthy urine, which does not irritate the bladder, and assisting the action of the kidneys, promotes the elimination from the blood of those impurities which poison the system, when not entirely filtered from it. Healthful action is very important.

MEN spend their lives in anticipations, in determining to be vastly happy at some period or other, when they have time. But the present time has one advantage over every other—it is our own.

"No BOBBY," said his mother; "one piece of cake is quite enough for you!" "It's funny," responded Bobby, with an injured air. "You say you are anxious that I should learn to eat properly, and yet you won't give me a chance to practice!"

FIVE THINGS.

What makes time short to me?

What makes it long and spiritless?

'Tis idleness!

What brings us to debt?

To delay and forget!

Oneself to defend!

—Johann Goethe.

From E. E. GRAY, DuBois, Neb., January 22, 1908:

I am serving my twenty-fifth year in the drug business, and during that time have always kept your Bitters in stock, and have never yet found anything that would equal it for all it is recommended, especially la grippe.

DO THE good thing which you can do, and not stand and do nothing because there is some other good thing you can't do.

"I AM afraid, dear wife, that while I am gone, absence will conquer love." "Oh, never fear, dear husband; the longer you stay away, the better I shall like you."

MAMMY JOHNSON (who has warned her son about smoking)—Yo' Gawge Washin'ton Laf'ette Johnson, doan yo' liet' me! Ise know yo' bin smokin'; I smell 'bacca smoke, shua as yo' am bo'n."

CURE FOR EARACHE.—At the first symptoms of earache let the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a thick towel and tuck it around the neck; then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water. Continue doing this for fifteen or twenty minutes; the water will fill the ear orifice, and flow over on the towel. Afterward, turn over the head, let the water run out, and plug the ear with warm glycerine and cotton. This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost sure cure, and has saved many cases of acute inflammation. The water should be quite warm, but not hot.

PRETTY TEACHER.—"Now, Johnny Wells, can you give an example of what is meant by a miracle?"

Johnny—"Yes, teacher; mother says if you don't marry the new parson it will be a miracle."

Teacher—"You may sit down."

FIND the weak spot in your fences and yourself, then strengthen them.

The sunshine makes the finest hay.

From MILLER & ARTHUR DRUG CO., Quincy, Ill., March 30, 1906:

Dear Sirs—With pleasure we desire to extend to you our best wishes, and will say that we have sold Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in this house for forty years. We have never received a complaint as to its merits, nothing but praise. We know of no preparation that has given better satisfaction as a general tonic and system-builder. It seems to us you claim for it.

GOOD ADVICE.—"Well, what ails you now?" asked the cranky old doctor of the chronic patient.

"Oh, doctor," whined the professional in valid, "I have such an awful pain in my left side every time I raise my hand to my head."

"Humph!" grunted the doctor. "Then don't raise your hand to your head. Two dollars, please."

All is not horse sense that man calls such.

WAKEFULNESS.

ALL people, it would seem, have suffered more or less from loss of sleep; hence we all know what a blessing it is to be able to enjoy peaceful rest the night through. The strongest constitution will weaken if the rest is broken night after night; awaking suddenly at times, no effort seems to avail in again wooing the god of slumber,—the mind's activity will not permit further rest. Sleep, Nature's plan for rebuilding the wasted tissues and recuperating energy and vigor expended during the waking hours, is a guide to the healthful condition of the system. You can't rob the body and mind without having to pay back with large interest. Unrelenting is the collector.

When you can't sleep at night there is something wrong,—radically wrong. The trouble may be mental or physical. In either case it comes primarily from a disordered condition of the stomach. You are suffering from a malady that will undermine the constitution in a short while and put you "out of business."

Do you know that a large number of the wrecks along the shore of life have been stranded on this reef, "loss of sleep", and battered to pieces by the waves of restlessness? Do you know that many a human boat has "gone down" within sight of the business harbor "Success"?

The human engine had been running so rapidly, so constantly and so tremendously during the day that, when the tired machine was laid down at night, for its regular rest, sleep seemed impossible. If you are in such condition, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters taken at regular intervals will cool off the heated and overworked parts, and put the whole system in a condition to enjoy a peaceful and restful night, so that you will be able to grapple with the affairs of the coming day.

From CYRUS MARSH, Keystone, Ind., April 5, 1906:

Dear Sirs—I cannot too highly recommend your Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for a person that has a system all run down from indigestion, exposure and hard physical labor. That was my condition when I commenced taking your Bitters. Now, at the age of 52, I feel as vigorous as I did when at thirty, and can labor all day without that tired feeling.

Folk who stand on their dignity often find the ground mighty slippery.

"WHAT are you cryin' for?"

"I've been fishin'."

"An' you're cryin' because you didn't catch nothin'?"

"No; I'm cryin' 'cause I'm goin' ter catch somethin'!"

When is a lawyer like a donkey? When he is drawing a conveyance.

EASY TO REMEMBER.—It is a good thing to know in these days of the collecting of antique silver, that a bit of gum camphor placed in the same case with the silver will prevent it from tarnishing. Every woman with a good collection of silver bric-a-brac knows what a difficult thing it is to keep it in proper order.

NO MAN ON EARTH.—An American humorist has sagely advised, "If you have any work to do before breakfast, eat your breakfast first"; and a more distinguished writer declares that "No man can be wise on an empty stomach."

A GOOD REASON.—Mrs. Jayworker—"So you are going to leave me, Bridget; haven't I treated you like one of the family?"

Bridget—"Indade ye have, mum, an' I've shtood it as long as Oi'm goin' to."

A LIGHT heart lives long.—Shakespeare.
